“A thumping great Savvy, abounding with vibrant fruit flavours”

Land that was once a high country sheep station is now a flourishing vineyard.

Sheep and Rabbits co-existed on the land for quite some time but the sheep couldn't keep up with the nocturnal activity of the Rabbits, and in the end were driven off the land. The owner of the Rabbit Ranch – Mr McGregor, planted some vines and tried unsuccessfully to reduce the rabbit population.

Rabbits now run free on the vineyard, and fuelled by high altitude wines, some are reputed to be the size of ponies, but that's another story...
